From Yesterday's Evening Edition.

ATLANTA, JULY 30, 1873.

Georgia Western Road.

Col. L. P. Grant resigned the position of President this morning, and Col. G. W. Adair was unanimously elected President, and Col. L. P. Grant, Director. Particulars to-morrow.

Summary of State News.

THOMASVILLE.

The concert for the benefit of the cornet band took place in Thomasville on Wednesday night. The music was splendid, especially the piece "God bless Robert Lee," which brought down the house. A large number was present, and the entertainment netted some $60.——On next Thursday the citizens of Thomasville hold a meeting to determine whether or not there shall be represented at the coming State fair.—Times.

The last chicken of the series for the present season has turned up in Thomasville. It is carefully preserved in alcohol, and has been interviewed by the editor of the Times. This chicken was afflicted with four legs, three eyes, one eye being on the top of his head, and the other two in the places where chicken's eyes are usually found, and only one body. Its death was caused by trying to run two ways at the same time. We pause for the next.

ROME.

The Rome Grange met Saturday, and after the transaction of a little business, adjourned to meet again on the 2d of August.——The latest news from the country is that the crops are suffering for rain.——The third exhibition of the Rome Fair Association was held at its rooms, on Saturday. As a failure the affair was a grand success. The entries were few in number, and the interest extremely light. ——The Romans settle all personal grievances with their fists.—Commercial.

BRUNSWICK.

A couple of negroes followed a Brunswick merchant home one evening last week for the purpose of despoiling him of his earthly possessions. They ascertained he carried a six-shooter, and changed their minds.——A young French sailor belonging to the bark Modesta, got tired of the business, and jumped overboard into the sound six miles from Brunswick. He swam to the city.——It costs a Brunswick man $25 to sell ten cents worth of beer on Sunday.——Henry Smith, of Massachusetts, recently shipped on board the ship Pacific as a cook, committed suicide on last Friday evening while the vessel was lying off Brunswick. He severed the blood vessels of his arm with a razor. Cause, nervous prostration from drink.—Seaport Appeal.

SPARTA.

Mr. James Dickson, of this county, inflicted a severe and painful wound in his left hand, last Saturday, by the accidental discharge of his pistol.——Mrs. Shivers and Mrs. Henry Cummings were thrown from a buggy last week. The horse ran away and smashed up the vehicle generally. Fortunately the ladies were worse scared than hurt.—Times and Planter.

Mr. Webster and Jenny Lind.

Henry S. Foote contributes to the Washington Chronicle the following account of an incident which came under his observation at the National capital:

On arriving at the door of the opera house, Mr. Webster entered in his grandest manner, and slowly passed down the central aisle of the building. It chanced that Jenny Lind was then on the platform, and was about to commence singing our inspiring National anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner."

So soon as Mr. Webster's approach was perceived, the assemblage spontaneously broke forth with tempestuous applause, evidently recognizing it as a remarkable coincidence that the renowned defender of the Constitution should have happened to come in at the very moment that the sacred emblem of the nation's liberty and union was on the eve of being rapturously apostrophized in song. So soon as the audience settled down into quietude, the inspiring tones of Jenny Lind's marvelous voice was heard.

Never, either before or since, have I been made so overwhelmingly sensible, as on that occasion I was of the commingled power of music and sentiment. The whole concourse really seemed to be electrified. Mr. Webster was so transported with delight that he actually seemed almost to become unconscious of the presence of others, and hummed very distinctly in unison with the varying tones of the songstress. All the enthusiasm of his soul seemed to have been kindled into flame; all his patriotic pride to have been awakened and his whole moral nature appeared to have been "touched and inspired" by the seraphic sounds to which he was an enraptured listener. When the song had been concluded Mr. Webster, as if implied by a sense of official duty, to offer, in the name of the great nation which he felt himself entitled in some degree to represent on this occasion, the formal tribute of its respect rose from his seat, and, stepping forward to a central position between the audience and the platform upon which Jenny Lind was standing, he made her one of the most honoring and majestic bows I ever beheld. The amiable and accomplished recipient of a homage as unexpected as it must have been gratifying, manifested something of a graceful and blushing embarrassment, but courtesied notwithstanding most profoundly in response; upon which the assembled multitude gave vent to their delight in most vociferous applause. A second bow was administered, with precisely similar accompaniments. A third bow was tendered, when the charming "Swedish nightingale," as she was called, incontinently took wing and became invisible to our fond and admiring eyes, perchance forever.

The Seventeenth Mrs. Brigham Young's Escapade.

SALT LAKE, July 16.—Yesterday Mrs. Ann Eliza Webb Young, said to be the seventeenth wife of the Prophet, and one of the latest acquisitions to his matrimonial household, left the house in which she has been residing for some time past, and which was built for her by Brigham Young, and repaired to the Walker House, where she now has rooms and where she will remain, it is said, until the suit for divorce which she will bring against Young shall be decided. This Mrs. Young was formerly Mrs. James Dee, and was the wife of a plasterer. She had two sons by this marriage, and left Dee because of domestic disagreement. Her age is now about thirty, and two years ago she was married to Young. It is represented that she has for some time past been restless in her matrimonial relations to the head of the Mormon Church, and finally decided yesterday to seek an escape from her unwelcome bonds. Immediately after her departure from her house in which she has been living, her household effects were taken to an auctioneer's to be sold. The event has naturally caused much comment which in Mormon circles is not altogether flattering to the lady. These scandalized gossips declare that she has been urged to her action by parties outside the Church, while they assert that her course was to be expected. The newspapers—the Tribune and Journal—have something to say about the affair. The former considers that Mrs. Young's action indicates the influences that are in secret disintegrating the Morman system, while the latter thinks that its effect will be to astonish and frighten from their dreams of security those Mormon households wherein polygamy is practised. It is a sensation in which the whole Mormon community are impartially interested for various reasons.

TEA TRADE LOSSES.

The losses [illegible] tea trade last year or two is estimated at [illegible]ons of dollars, caused by the failure of the fo[illegible] firms: J. D. McKenzie & Co, W. H. G[illegible]Co, Smith & Noyes, Charles E. Hill & Co., [illegible]ps, Dater & Co., and McKenzie, one of the earliest failures, made a settlement and resumed business, and other firms are mentioned as either having or are making settlements with their creditors.

DESPERATE CONVICT.

At Sing Sing yesterday, while a draft of prisoners was being [illegible] for Auburn prison, the notorious Wes. Allen, with a large knife, unlocked his cell and dared one to approach him. When an attempt was to be made to capture him, Allen pointed to [illegible] containing about one pound of nitro-glycerine, threatened to blow up the prison, should any one molest him. The warden deeming discretion the better part of valor, left Allen behind the bars in possession of his deadly instruments.

SPAIN.

A [San]guinary Naval Engagement Expected.

N[illegible], July 29.—A Herald special, dated London, says: At Carthagena, yesterday, the red flag of the insurgents, and which had been flying above the [illegible] and ships in the harbor, was replaced by [the nati]onal flag. Anticipating trouble, the Mendez Nunez left the Arsenal Yard and anchored in the [ro]ads ready for any movement, and also the Numancia and others to-day—the iron clads accompanied by three steamers—were to issue from the harbor if interfered with will fire upon the attacking vessels. A sanguinary naval engagement is expected. The Prussian and English consuls have received orders from their respective ministers to notify [illegible] that rebel ships are pirates and to treat them as such. The rebels threaten that if any vessel belonging to a foreign power interferes to massacre every consul and foreigner in the city. Strangers are [illegible] and are flying for their lives.

LIBERAL SUCCESS IN NAPLES.

The [libe]rals carried the election at Naples.

The Southern Census.

The [Sup]erintendent of the census sent out about three months since circulars to the census takers of 1860 in the Southern States, notifying them that Congress had authorized the [paym]ent of the balances due them on a proper rendering of their accounts. The responses were very prompt, and the assistant superintendent of the census, to whom the [wor]k of adjusting and settling up the accounts was entrusted, has just completed the same. The accounts, which number between eight and nine hundred, have been adjusted and handed over to the first auditor of the treasury for payment, many of them have already been paid to parties themselves or their legal representatives, and the remainder will be liquidated as soon as the proper proof of identity [is] furnished.

[No]twithstanding the assertions of the Alaska [Fu]r-Seal Company that their monopoly is [un]profitable, Mr. Bendell, who has long [illegible] in the Arctic Territory, declares that [the] season's catch on seal is worth $1,000,000 and of this the 300 Aleuts, who do the [work] for the company, receive only [illegible]000. It is no wonder that the monopoly wants protection in the United States, etc.

[Fr]om some of the letters which have recently appeared in American papers, it would seem that European kings, princes, and queens are just now particularly desirous of pouring their secrets into the sympathetic ears of American newspaper correspondents.

Horse Trading in New York.

How a Kentucky Horse Trader Took in a Snob.

The war which impoverished so many Southern people made sudden fortunes for thousands of persons North, some of whom had previously never known any greater luxuries of life than are possessed to-day by the poor and untutored Irishmen in the bogs Ballahack.

This almost magical transformation from abject poverty to great wealth very naturally turned the brains of many of the favored sons of fortune, and the numerous and persistent attempts, on the part of Shoddy, to ape the ease of manners and general style of the cultivated and refined people around them, gave rise to no little amusement to the fashionable world, and the clubs of New York especially rang with stories ludicrous enough to make a preacher laugh. In nothing was the vanity of the princes of Shoddy so apparent as in their desire to possess fine horses and turn-outs. Though they were ignorant of what constituted beauty or excellence in horseflesh, and scarcely knew a thoroughbred from a cow, they lavished money upon horses and spent small fortunes in trying to have finer equipages than the elite.

New York, therefore, just after the war, was an Eldorado for horse-traders, and perhaps some of the most remarkable trades ever heard of were then and there effected. Among the traders who annually visited New York, was old Col. Thornton, of Versailles, Ky., who was an expert in horseflesh, and celebrated for his excellent judgment in the selection of horses. In the spring of 1866 the Colonel took on a couple of carloads of good horses, and advertised them for sale at one of the up-town stables.

Pretty soon a young man, dressed to kill, with ruffled shirt front, patent-leather boots, Jouvin kids on his large hands, and a beaver as slick and shiny as a peeled onion, walked into the stable, accompanied by a groom in livery. He inquired for the horses advertised in the Herald, and the old Colonel promptly gratified his curiosity. He wanted a "fine pair of horses," and was shown a handsome pair of bays with long manes and tails, and heads shot up in the air as horse-men know how to shoot them. Shoddy inquired the price, and was told $1,500. He looked somewhat disappointed, and remarked, without examining the animals critically: "Oh, they won't do; put them up; haven't you anything better?"

The old Colonel took his measure in a moment, and said: "Well, my friend, I have nothing better at present, but a car load of extra fine horses of mine will be here on Tuesday. Call Wednesday morning, and I think I can suit you."

Shoddy departed and the Colonel went to work on those horses He stuffed and blanketed them and resorted to all the arts known to traders, so that by Wednesday they were fine as fiddles.

Anticipating the arrival of his man, he had them brought out and exhibited on the platform in front of the stable, and when Shoddy arrived, remarked to him: "There, my friend, is something I thing I think will suit you, but the price is a little steep."

Shoddy looked at the horses and was mightily tickeled. "Ah!" he exclaimed, as he smoothed down their glossy coats and viewed them, as he fancied, critically, "they are something like," which sentiment was indorsed by his groom, with marked warmth of manner, the Colonel having slipped a $20 bill into his hand a moment before. "Yes, Mr. Jenkins, them fellers will take the shine in the park," observed the groom.

"What is your figure?" asked Shoddy.

"Well, sir," said the Colonel, "I couldn't take a cent less than three thousand dollars; they are fine horses, sir."

"Send them round to my stable," exclaimed Shoddy, not deigning to chaffer about the price, and he handed the three thousand dollars over to the Colonel, next morning, for the very team he had spurned at fifteen hundred dollars.

Old Thornton laughs, when tells the story, to this day.

LYON'S KATHAIRON

Only 50 Cents per Bottle.

It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.

OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek, "KATHRO," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates Dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME in QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only Fifty Cents per Bottle.

Woman's Glory is Her Hair.

NASHVILLE
UNION AND AMERICAN,
(THE PEOPLE'S PAPER.)

The Great News, Family, Commercial, Political and Agricultural Journal of the South.

It Gives telegraphic news from all parts of the world as soon as any other paper published in America.

It Gives, by telegraph, the latest market quotations of all foreign and domestic markets, day by day and week by week.

It Gives, by telegraph, every day, the closing quotations of gold, stocks and bonds in this city and in New York, of the day before.

It Gives Daily, Semi-Weekly and Weekly the current market price in the city of Nashville, of every article of produce and trade in Tennessee.

It Gives to the mechanic an account of every new invention calculated to advance his interest by lessening his labor.

It is a financial chronicle, which publishes to the people every fact in the finances of the State and country, calculated to advance or retard their interests.

It Gives all the current political news and movements of the day, and the honest opinions of its conductors thereon.

It Gives all local, State and miscellaneous news of the day.

It Gives a good share of literature and poetry—fresh, carefully chosen and entertaining.

Its Agricultural and household columns, by Dr. DANIEL LEE, (who is alone employed by this paper, and who stands first among the scientific and practical agriculturalists of this country,) are full of plain talk to Farmers and Housewives, and advocates their interest in all things.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 30, 1873.

Brevities.

Bananas are good for babies.

Weight for the wagon, sang the fat lady.

The Graphic is to publish a story written by Miss Ida L. Greeley.

The best sermon requires but two heads and an application. It is the same way with kisses.

The Post-office Department has commenced supplying small offices throughout the country with postal cards.

Grace Greenwood says that "while the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return his back salary."

The Birmingham (Ala.) News goes for a Reverend gentlemen who ran away from that place when the cholera broke out.

According to the last census there are 383,712 Indians in the United States. Of these nearly one half are on the Pacific slope.

"Owing to the death of the editor there won't be any Leader, Tuesday," says a Wisconsin weekly; "but look out for an old ripper on Wednesday."

A Terre Haute (Ind.) goose has got into the papers, charged with hydrophobia. The bird, it is said, severely bit several individuals before it could be secured.

The Graphic balloon will be ready to take in its gas and quit the earth about August 20. The son of old John Brown, of Harper's Ferry, is an applicant for a passage.

The Howell Cobb lately reported injured in the railway accident at New River bridge, in Virginia, was Mr. Howell E. Cobb, of LaGrange, and not Capt. Howell Cobb, of Athens.

Two little girls were comparing progress in catechism study. "I have got to original sin," said one; "how far have you got?" "Me? O, I'm way beyond redemption," said the other.

It is positively announced that Anna Dickinson will take the stage next fall. She is now under the tuition of Miss Fanny Morant. Her first appearance will be at Boston, in Mr. Taylcure's new adaptation of Hawthorn's "Scarlet Letter."

Fourteen thousand seven hundred and sixty-five watermelons were shipped from Savannah on Saturday, as follows: By the Seminole for Boston, 6,802; Wyoming for Philadelphia, 1,410; and San Salvador for New York, 6,553.

In Montana they have a "society for protection against cattle and horse thieves," with a central council, and branches for the administration of justice. These branches vary from ten to twenty feet from the ground.

A correspondent estimates that A. T. Stewart's fortune ($100,000,000) reduced to gold coin, would load a good sized sloop, and that two hundred and odd mules, each carrying one ton, would be required to transport it from its place of deposit to the vessel.

A Troy man is writing a biography of Methuselah He has been engaged six years on this work, and has just reached the boyhood days of the patriarch His description of the athletic sports of the young lad at the age of 129 are very entertaining.

The total absence of boot-jacks, pomatum pots and other household missiles in the remains of Swiss lacustrine villages, leads Dr. Hartman, the distinguished ethnologist, to the conclusion that the domestic cat was unknown to pre-historic man.

In her Baltimore lecture, Dr. Mary Walker again declared that nothing could induce her to abandon her style of dress. The Secretary of the Treasury even, had'nt money enough to buy her off. She spoke of herself as the only woman in Baltimore dressed properly for windy weather or ascending a ladder.

The New York News says an application has been made to Governor Dix, and a petition signed by some of the most prominent men in the State of New York, to grant young Walworth a pardon. The proceedings have been kept very quiet, and Gov. Dix has written to Judge Noah Davis, asking him to transmit him a copy of all the testimony, letters, and records in the case.

A civil service committee in Washington asked an applicant for a clerkship what was the distance of the planet Saturn from the earth. The candidate answered that he was unable to state the distance in miles, but did not think it was sufficiently near to interfere with the performance of his duties as a clerk, nor to beget in him a desire to meddle with the rings.

Bierstadt has completed another of his large landscapes, representing the Southern Sierras, and calls it "Autumn in the Sierras." It is a bright view of the south fork of King River, with Mount Brewer in the distance, overlooking the narrow valley of the river, winding and foaming 8,000 feet below the point of view, while beyond the peak rises 5,000 feet higher.

United States Marshal Packard, and Deputy Marshal Stockton, left New Orleans last Saturday, for Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the Convention of United States Marshals in that city on the 30th, called, it is understood, for the purpose of fixing 'things," for the renomination of Grant. "Things is a workin'." Long live the king!

Illinois has 6,526 miles of railway service, the largest amount of any of the United States. Ohio is next, with 4,877 miles, and New York is third. Massachusetts has about 1,700 miles. None of the other New England States has as many as 1,000 miles. The total railway service of the country is 63,514 miles, an increase of 5,603 miles during the past year.

The Nashville Banner says that the hay crop is unusually prolific in Middle Tennessee this year. There has been more of it harvested during the past two or three days of fair weather, than has been grown here since the flood, so to speak. The corn crop, however, will not be so good, unless we should soon have more rain. Perhaps this would induce our farmers in future to plant less corn and more hay. We do not believe they can compete successfully with the northwest in this corn business, and we don't believe it pays here to grow corn at two dollars. The hay crop, however, is our legitimate crop.

☞ Beast Butler is going to have Republican opposition in running for Governor of Massachusetts. Against him such men as the Hoars, Dawes, etc, have taken open stand.

☞ Mr. W. F. Story, editor of the Chicago Times, who recently lost his wife, publishes a card in which he charges her death to the neglect of H. A. Johnson, her attending physician. A libel suit is expected.

The Weekly Constitution.

We regret that our Sunday edition containing the likeness of Colonel Adair was exhausted before supplying a number of applications for it. But we had some extra copies of the weekly printed to supply the growing demand for this family journal, and in it will be found the sketch of Colonel Adair, yesterday made President of the Georgia Western Railroad.

☞ Senator Booth, of New Orleans, gives some startling facts:

Booth said the State bonds are worth about thirty cents, and the bonds of the city of New Orleans about sixty cents. There are ten thousand vacant residences and stores in New Orleans, and eight thousand white mechanics have left the city during the past few weeks. Business is at a standstill; there is no building going on; and, in the words of the same Senator, "Nothing but taxes and suits, and threats, and seizures, and inflammatory, false appeals." From another source we learn that the annual taxation, State and municipal, of various trades and professions is as follows: Bankers, $2,000; merchants, $200; insurance companies, $1,000; lawyers, $40; physicians, $40; auctioneers, $130; hotel keepers, $400; brokers or agents, $150; theatre managers, $1,000, and so on.

This comes of Radicalism.

Who Would'nt be Vanderbilt!

Mr. Vanderbilt controls 2,150 miles of railroad, representing $215,000,000 of securities, with a gross income of forty-five millions of dollars. This involves the mastery of the trade of the four great States of New York, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

Not content with this vast power, Vanderbilt, it is said will in October possess the Western Union Telegraph Company with 70,000 miles of wire, forty millions of capital and nine millions of revenue, thus controlling the immense and invaluable telegraphic correspondence of the country.

This is a large range of power for one single individual to wield. What can he and will he not do?

The Georgia Western.

In another column will be found the full proceedings of a meeting of the Georgia Railroad Directors, at which Col. L. P. Grant resigned the Presidency for good reasons, in which the Board concurred. Filling the laborious position of superintendent of the Atlanta and West Point road, he might not be able to give as much time and attention as he ought to the Georgia Western. Indeed, the Directors of the Atlanta and West Point road also thought best to claim all his time; and well they might, for as the annual reports show, we doubt if any other man could have made that road declare a dividend of eight per cent. Yet he could be a most efficient and invaluable director of the Georgia Western, and was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy created by the election of Col. G. W. Adair to the Presidency. Col. Grant's great letter, than which we rarely ever read one more exhaustive and unanswerable, shows how his heart is in the work.

Of the new President, we need not speak. THE CONSTITUTION of Sunday morning showed who he is and what he has done. His services in behalf of our new road long since won him the soubriquet of "Georgia Western Adair." The selection is a most fitting one.

The Report of the Last Fiscal Year of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad.

We have given our readers the Superintendent's and President's reports of the last fiscal year's operations of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad, and we congratulate the company upon the showing.

In spite of many serious drawbacks, involving a decrease in freight of some thirty thousand dollars, the management has been able to pay a dividend of 8 per cent., and this with a business that is boldly declared to be the minimum that the road will ever have.

Competition has been unusually heavy. New lines and new combinations have taken away business without any new sources of revenue to offset. These latter new sources the road will soon have. The chief medium of new business will be the Atlanta and Richmond Air-Line, which in September will begin to be tributary.

The gross receipts run to nearly four hundred thousand dollars, and ordinary expenses to near two hundred and seventy thousand dollars, leaving a comfortable balance of almost $130,000. The net income was over $100,000.

The travel increased $15,790 over the previous year. One noticeable feature of the freight business is the large increase in cotton transportation. This cotton freight ran to 84,171 bales, against 39,103 bales the year before, or the large increase in one year of 45,068 bales.

No accidents have occurred. The track is in good order. The stock is in good condition.

The showing is a fine one; and the thanks of the company are due to the capable President and his most efficient Superintendant.

What the Dispatches Mean about the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

Frequently of late our telegraphic columns have had dispatches relating to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and its efforts to borrow money.

The record of this company shows as romantic career of business vicissitude as ever was chronicled.

Twenty-five years ago the company was started by three New York merchants, one of whom was the celebrated Wm. H. Aspinwall. The United States government gave the company a subsidy to open up and maintain steam communication between New York and the new territory of California by way of the Isthmus of Panama.

Two ships were started. The gold fever of 1848-9 then beginning gave the company an extraordinary impetus. In 1853 some $4,000,000 was invested, and the company made fortunes.

Old Vanderbilt started a rival line by way of Nicaragua, which ran down the Pacific Mail stock to $40 a share. Vanderbilt sold out to the Pacific Mail for $40,000 a month in 1857. The stock ran between 40 and 80 and was at 60 when the war broke out.

A firm known as Brown Brothers made a pool and bought 25,000 shares of the stock at 70, and in 1865 sold out for 330, realizing twelve millions of dollars. A Southerner dabbled in the stock and broke. He formed the novel plan of selling the stock short at 175, and fitting out a privateer to capture the steamers. The Browns bought his short stock, captured his privateers, made twenty per cent. profit and smashed the credulous Southron.

In 1865 the company's capital stock was increased to $10,000,000 worth, 240, and twenty-three steamers were running. Leonard W. Jerome took hold and had ten millions more of stock issued which he took at 200. In a week the stock fell to 170 and Jerome smashed. In 1867, the stock fell to 117 and in 1868, to 86. In 1870 it tumbled to 30.

Alden B. Stockwell jumped the stock in 1872 to par, but the rise was ficticious. The last year's administration has been a stunner, Three millions of cash gone, as much more real estate gone, 37,000 shares of stock gone, thirty old time wooden steamers on hand, costing twice the money to run them that iron streamers cost the Pacific Railroad done and doing the business, lawsuits on every side, debts due in every quarter and no funds.

This is the Pacific Mail prospect. Our readers will understand the matter hereafter.

Steam on Canals—Report of the Commissioners Appointed by the State of New York.

We have before us this interesting document, and it is our intention from time to time to give such extracts from it as we deem will best interest our readers and instruct the public. The fact that steam has been used successfully upon the Erie Canal is established. Steam has for several years been used upon other canals, both in this country and in Europe, with great success, but owing to the peculiarity of the construction of the Erie Canal, until recently, steam as a motive power on that canal has not been considered a marked success. More recent experiments, however, enable the commission to reach the following conclusion:

1. "That the practicability of substituting steam for animal power on the canal is substantially demonstrated."

2. "That an average speed of three miles per hour, including lockage, may be attained."

3. "That by the substitution of steam the tonnage of the canal may be very largely increased."

4. That an ultimate saving of 50 per cent. may be effected on the cost of transportation on canals.

5. That the cheapest and most convenient mode of employing steam is in boats carrying their own machinery and 200 tons of cargo.

One of the very best and cheapest freight roads in the United States is the New York Central Railroad. This road is wonderfully straight, with grades not exceeding 20 feet to the mile. It can consequently haul freight very much cheaper than other roads. The cost of hauling a ton of freight per mile over this road with its immense traffic is about 13 mills. At this rate it would cost to carry a ton of freight from Buffalo to New York $6 50. By canal, at 5 mills per ton per mile, it would cost $2 50. Making a difference of $4 00 in favor of the canal.

Express-freight trains, it is stated, go through from Buffalo to New York in fifty-two hours; say two days. Heavily-loaded canal boats go through in ten days. This saves eight days in time. Now let us see what this time is worth. The saving of this eight days costs the farmer $4. That would be upon a ton of corn, at one dollar per bushel, twelve cents and one mill on each bushel, and EQUAL TO FORTY FIVE PER CENT. A MONTH. It is only necessary to examine these figures to see the utter absurdity of this argument about "the saving of time," and quick time, and all that, which is so great a favorite with the railroad advocate.

We would like to know in what way the saving of these eight days would justify a merchant in borrowing money, for instance at 45 per cent. per month to effect it. Or in what manner the farmer could make up his loss of 45 per cent. a month by the saving of the eight days in the transmission of his crop to market. The only compensating advantage we can see is to be found in the occasional fluctuation in prices. This, however, is temporary—being the result of speculation and does not affect our figures.

How Mrs. Henry Dealt with a Burglar.

From the Danbury News]

There is a peculiarly saddening effect in awakening in the night and hearing burglars at work in your house. This was the case with Mr. Henry, on South street, Friday night. As soon as he detected the noise, which appeared to be down stairs, he softly crept out of bed, and commenced to prowl around for a match. His wife was soon awakened by the same noise, and believing that something was the matter with the children, who slept in the next room, she carefully withdrew from the bed so not to disturb her husband, and started for the door. An instant later they collided. What he thought was evident enough. All the hard earnings of an arduous life were at stake. Before him stood one or more robbers. With an exclamation of condensed eloquence he clinched her. What she thought is not quite so evident, but it was doubtless of her husband and children, and, being plucky withal, she at once twined her fingers in his hair, and gave him a wrench that made him think of death.

Then both of them went down to the floor together, she having the advantage in the fall, and, getting on top, with her hands still in his hair, she shook his head against the floor with an energy and a courage that would undoubted have filled him to overflowing with admiration, had he known who it was, or had he known anything at all. Every time she rapped him she shrieked for help, and in a brief space of time the children and Mrs. Eben Davis, who lives down stairs, were on the scene. Mrs. Davis was not dressed for company, but in the excitement she didn't mind adornment. She had a candle in one hand, and a long carving fork in the other, and was about to drive the latter into the legs of the villain, when recognition ensued.

Then Mrs. Davis laid down the candle in one direction, and the fork in another, and immediately returned to her own apartments, her yellow flannel nightcap, as it shot down the stairs, being the first thing Mr. Henry saw on springing to his feet. The children were returned to their room, and put to bed, but the parents did not resume their couch. It was so pleasant that Mr. Henry concluded to remain up the rest of the night and enjoy the scenery, and Mrs. Henry thought it best to stay up, too, so as to change the cloths on his head as often as possible.

Max Adeler on the Atlanta Cholera Cure.

We perceive in the papers that an Atlanta doctor advises persons who wish to avoid the cholera "to stand on their heads for a considerable time each day, for the purpose of causing abdominal depression." It will be an affecting spectacle for a man to come home in the evening and see his wife and children and his aunt all standing on their heads in a row in the entry, awaiting abdominal depression.

We can not conscientiously recommend the prescription, but it is much better than that offered by a Bethlehem doctor, who advised persons to get some one to sit upon their stomachs for a few moments each day. Ridgely was struck with the idea, and asked his next door neighbor, McGann, to assist him. McGann weighs over two hundred pounds, and when he stooped to sit on Ridgely, he came down, as it were, with a "squash," which knocked the breath out of Ridgely, and made him totally insensible.

But McGann was not aware of the fact, so he took a paper from his pocket and began to read. He gradually become so interested that he forgot himself completely; and he studied up the convulsions in France, and devoured the editorials on General Butler, and guessed the conundrums, and chuckled over the Indian massacres, and informed himself of the prices of marketing, and cried over the bad grammar in the locals, and tried to parse the marine intelligence, and poisoned his mind with the certificates of patent medicine cures He was thus absorbed for four hours, and then he happened to think of Ridgely. Ridgely was beginning to look blue about the mouth, and he was only brought to by soaking him for a day or two in brandy and hartshorn. And now he is not only conscientiously opposed ty compression of the stomach as a cholera preventive, but he is praying that the cholera will break out in the McGann family and rattle the entire concern into the silent grave. McGann has left town for the summer, because he knows Ridgely's shot-gun never will scatter.—Max Adeler.

To the Editor of the New York Sun:

SIR—I propose to make a national picture. I want the Sun's aid. If the photographers throughout the land will each send me a picture of their respective Congressmen I will arrange all who have taken their back-pay steal, those who voted for it, and those who let it lay, including our illustrious President, whose signature and influence made it a law, into a group, and send one to every prominent city in the United States to be hung in their Rogues' Gallery.

A NATIONAL BOARDING HOUSE PROPOSED.—A correspondent of the New York Sun says: I wish to make a proposition to the inhabitants of the United States. Let them build a building at Washington large enough to board all the Representatives and Senators. Then let all members of each House draw their rations, the same as soldiers. With this arrangement their salaries, over and above their board, could be reduced to about $2,500 a year each. The plan will save the country millions of money.

THE TURF.

Tom Bowling's Antics—How He Performed at Monday's Race.

After the handsome son of Beadman had won the August Stake in fine style, beating Belmont's Scratch, there was a general move on the benches, and a murmur of "Now for Tom Bowling;" and soon the great colt made his appearance, with his mane neatly braided, and tied up with green and orange ribbons. A fair-haired girl, who wore her blonde hair in long plaits behind, with dark brown ribbons, looked at them sorrowingly, and wished she had remembered to get Tom's colors. The colt was worthy of all this admiration, for he never looked better in his lifetime. Still the remembrance of his cussedness haunted a great many betting men, and they invested on Alice Mitchell, or Lizzie Lucas, or Withers' two imported ones. At the Mutual pools the betting was incessant, the winners on Saxon in the preceding race putting their winnings at once on the great McGrath horse. They had received $45 for each $5, and consequently felt themselves in luck and were inclined to speculate. The field was soon mounted, and the jockeys winked at each other as they walked their horses about comfortably and eyed Bobby Swim, who was quietly waiting while Tom Bowling was being pacified. He seized a lucky moment and was on his back in the twinkling of an eye. Tom whirled around suddenly as if he was determined to bolt, but Bobby coaxed him and he cantered nicely up to the line. The word was given, and they all bounded off, Tom in front by ever so many lengths. But the drum had not sounded, and the flag had not fallen; hence, it was a false start, and Tom Bowling, who was already at the club house, had to be halted and brought back. This was done with apparent ease, but when the jockey tried to bring him up again, he refused. Then commenced an extraordinary scene. He could not be held. The jockey worked at his bit, and two powerful negroes endeavored to drag him to the line, but he would not go. All of a sudden he made a tremendous dive for the pailings, as if resolved to crush the jockey against them. Swim was on the alert and threw himself off on the other side. The horse then made another tremendous rush for freedom, but one of the negroes, a perfect Hercules, clung around his neck, and by wrenching at his head, brought him to a stand by forcing him to cross his legs. The race being for two miles, all this passed in front of the grand stand, and some of Tom Bowling's backers trembled for their money and actually stole down to the Mutual Pools and hedged. McGrath had blinkers brought, which were clapped on him. He shouted to Bruce, "When the jockey is mounted, the men will drag him to the line. Start the horses then, no matter how far ahead they are of my horse, for it will make no difference in the end." Bobby Swim, watching his chance, mounted his horse at a bound, and the two powerful negroes held him back by the head. He dragged them to within ten lengths of the leading horses, whose jockeys were grinning at the performance.

Bruce gave the word, the drum was tapped, and the flag fell, Tom Bowling being many lengths in rear of the hindmost horses. In a few bounds he had torn past them, the jockey being unable to hold him in, and went along at a tremendous pace, being shortly fifteen lengths ahead of them all. He had gone round three-quarters of a mile before Swim could hold him in, which he at last did. They soon rushed past the judges' stand on the first mile, the foremost horse being about two lengths from him. Everybody was cheering, and the friends of Cottrill and Doswell said: "Well, of course, you can't beat him for a mile, but wait till he gets to the next half-mile post, and then you'll see." But lo, and behold! When the half-mile post was reached, Lizzie Lucas, who beat him before, had enough, and fell back, hopelessly beaten, and Tom Bowling was increasing his distance visibly. When they turned into the homestretch, the sports were screaming, "A hundred to five on Tom Bowling," with no takers, "A hundred to one on Tom Bowling," with no takers. The men rushed from the lower benches, waving their hats and screaming at the top of their voices, cheering like madmen. The ladies were screaming and waving their pocket-handkerchiefs as Tom Bowling dashed by in a common canter, many lengths ahead of the field. Bobby Swim smiled and looking as proud as a king, as he heard the cheers and saw the men throw up their hats. McGrath was as cool as a cucumber. "I told you so, gentlemen," he said. "Now, don't let us hear any more of unfair starts after this." As everybody was rushing to shake his hand off with congratulation, he beat a hasty retreat to the judge's stand, on the opposite side of the track. He shook the Times correspondent heartily by the hand, and looked, as, indeed, he probably was, the happiest man in America.

Away behind the Mutual Pools where they were paying his tickets the crowd of winners fraternized in the heartiest fashion. They received $13 53 for each $5 ticket, and were just crazy with enthusiasm, predicting that Tom Bowling would win the Travers Stakes with ease, and would cut down Count D'Orsay, Springbok, and Strachino, as easily as he had Alice Mitchell and Lizzie Lucas. Then they, having a long time to wait before they were paid, began to speculate on what he would be when a four-year old, when his sinews were stiffened and his temper improved. "Mark dis chile's words," said an old Kentucky nigger who had invested in a ticket, "dis yere hoss is agoing to be anoder Bosting, and dat's what de matter." A gentleman next to him sympathized heartily with him, and, being a pure Republican, talked to him as an equal. He whispered in his ear: "Mas-sa gemmen, buy Gorlitza fur de next race." The gentleman took the hint, and Gorlitza. who was hardly noticed in the betting, took the liberty of winning, paying to those who invested in her the neat sum of $53 for each $5 ticket, which was very pleasant, and a nice return for a little politeness.—New York Times.

☞ The velocipede mania which raged here four or five years ago has long since died out. The once favorite machine is now hardly ever seen. At one time a report was circulated most industriously that the bicycle exercise was followed by injurious physical results, and this report contributed not a little to the decline of the amusement. In Great Britain, however, there are still flourishing several velocipede clubs. The members of one of them, called the Middlesex Bicycle Club, have recently made an interesting excursion on their velocipedes through the country in the north of Scotland. They left London on Whit Monday with their bicycles.

Their ultimate destination was the point called John O'Groat's, on the Pentland frith, directly south of the Orkney Islands. The excursionists were greeted with crowds at many of their stopping places, and—with the exception of the occasionally breaking down of a velocipede which was easily repaired—their journey was attended with no accident. The steep ascent known as the Ord of Caithness, on the northeastern coast of Scotland, near the border of the counties of Sutherland Caithness, was successfully accomplished. The distance from London to John O'Groat's is about eight hundred miles, and the average rate of the velocipedists was sixty miles a day.

Americans Dancing at Hombourg.

From the London Cosmopolitan.]

A gossipy correspondent flying through the spas to Vienna says Hombourg-les-Bains is brilliant with music three times a day. We took a peep into the gold room just as all nations were whirling through a treble set quadrille. Mrs. George Francis Train and Prince Lobomirska, were vis-a-vis to Baron Fitsenhofer and Countess Beckie of Austria, with Count Zoll of Russia, and Mdlle. Train of America, vis-a-vis to Chevalier Walski of Warsaw, while the Coming Dictator, whose dancing days appear to be over, was gesticulating in Italian on the sofa to the Countess Witztum. Irish, French, Americans, and a dozen nations were on the floor. Young Riggs, the Washington banker; the Wetmores of Baltimore, the Chadwicks of New York, the Cadys, mother and daughters, were sliding over the polished floor with their titled partners.

CABLE CELEBATION.

Grand Time in Honor of Seventh Birthday of First Atlantic Cable.

HEARTS CONTENT, July 29.—The seventh anniversary of the opening of telegraphic communication between America and Europe was celebrated yesterday on board the Great Eastern and on shore.

There was a very spirited race between three boats of the Great Eastern, twelve oars each. Then followed a race between the officers of the Great Eastern and Hearts Content Telegraph for a staff, which was won by the former. The Stewart of the Great Eastern was challenged by the Shore Club and was beaten. Other boat races succeeded, and tub races in the harbor, with foot races on shore, made the day pass pleasant ly. In the evening a concert was given on board the Great Eastern, creating great enthusiasm.

POSTAL CARDS.

England Don't Want Any of Ours.

WASHINGTON, July 29—For some weeks past a correspondence has been going on between the Post-Office Department here and that of Great Britain with a view to establish an exchange of postal cards at a low rate of postage; but the British authorities have finally declined the proposition, on the ground that they are opposed to any lower rate of postage than that now paid on letters. The proposition of the United States was to have an exchange of postal cards by the addition of one cent postage—the same as we now have with Canada.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Under special orders No. 83, a board of officers of the Corps of Engineers, consisting of Colonel J. G. Barnard, Lieutenant-Colonel John Newton, Major Q. A. Gilmore, Major K. A. Warren, Major A. P. Craighill, Major G. Weitzel and Captain C. W. Howell is now in session at New York city, considering the plan submitted by Captain Howell, of the Corps of Engineers, for a ship canal to connect the Mississippi River with the Gulf of Mexico, and the navigable waters thereof, made in compliance with the resolution of the House of Representatives of March 14, 1871. This is considered by Senator West to be one of the most able boards ever convened in the engineer corps, and should they indorse Howell's report, the Senator regards the project as likely to be much benefitted in the views of Congress.

FRENCH NEWS.

Important Treaties Approved—McMahon's Message.

VERSAILLES, July 29.—In the Assembly to day the treaties of commerce with Great Britain and Belgium was concluded by the duc de Broglie, and approved.

A message from President MacMahon prolonging the Assembly, was received and read.

The President says he will answer for the preservation order during the recess, and will insure the maintainance of respect for the authority of the Assembly. He points out the happy results of Concord, between the Government and the Assembly, among which he specifies the passage of the bill for the reorganization of the army. Alluding to the evacuation of the soil by the German troops now fast approaching completion, he makes a grateful acknowledgement of the successful negotiations of President Thiers to that end, and praises the Eastern Department for their heroism, and the French people for their patriotism and abnegation in the protracted trial they have undergone.

The country, he adds, will never cease to feel a sense of its dignity when it remembers what a price it has paid for peace; but noisy manifestations of joy over the event should not be indulged in. Peace is the first necessity and the government resolved to maintain it. Assurances are received daily of the sincere amity of the foreign powers.

The President closes his message by declaring that he shall continue the policy indicated by the frequent and unanimous vote of the Assembly.

At the conclusion of the reading there were cheers from the Right and Centre.

The permanent committee of the Assembly have resolved to sit once every two weeks during the recess.

An amendment offered by the Left, making the sittings weekly was rejected.

The committee holds its first regular session on the 13th proximo.

Further of the Carlist Defeat at Seville.

MADRID, July 29.—The loyal troops in Seville moved against the insurgents yesterday, and after a two hours fight they gained and held the leading strategic points in the city. It is expected that by to-morrow morning the insurgents will be completely overpowered. A conference by telegraph has been going on between President Salmeron and the Valencia insurgents. The latter appear to be disposed to surrender. General Makenna leaves Madrid to-morrow to take command of the army in Catalona. Senor Castillar has recovered from an indisposition which confined him to his house a few days and attended a Council of Ministers to day.

GETTYSBURG KATALYSINE WATER

THE United States Dispensatory, the authorized record of our Materia Medica, classes this water with the most renowned Alkaline or Carbonated Springs of Europe. It far excels any other known in its self-preserving properties. It has never been claimed for this or any other mineral water the power to dissolve the urates, or so called chalk formations in the body or on the limbs and joints. This the Gettysburg Katalysine Water has done in hundreds of instances. Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Gravel, Diabetes, Kidney and Urinary Diseases generally, have all yielded to its influence. It has restored Muscular Power to the Paralytic, cured Abdominal Dropsy, and given healthy action to the Torpid Liver. It has cured Chronic Diarrhoea, Constipation, Asthma, Catarrh, Diseases of the Skin, General Debility and Nervous Prostration from Mental and Physical Excesses. All these by the use of this water. It is a powerful antidote for Excessive Eating and Drinking. It corrects the Stomach, promotes Digestion, and relieves the Head almost instantly. Pamphlets containing a history of the Springs, reports from eminent physicians and medical men, marvelous and well attested cures, and testimonials from distinguished citizens, will be furnished and sent by mail on application to

FROM BEAR CREEK.—Editors Constitution: You will please state through your popular paper that my mother, who was reported by your correspondent "A," from Bear Creek or Hampton, as being very sick from cholera, through the skillful treatment of her attending physician, Dr. W. H. Peeples, she is now considered out of danger. My sister, who was reported as "taking the cholera and undergoing treatment," is not sick; but the report, I suppose, grew out of the doctor stating that he feared she would take or was taking it. Very truly,

This reported is indebted to Dr. J. F. Alexander for the finest specimen of the Amelia peach yet seen in this market.
A talking match is to be the next sensation.
Three Newnan belles leave to-day for White Sulphur Springs.

ON CHANGE.—At the meeting on change, yesterday, the subject of a grain elevator was again discussed. John Stephens (in the Chair) remarked that he had been corresponding with Western men. It would require $50,000 to construct an elevator of 300,000 bushels capacity. It must be built by a private company, and, to stimulate such a company, they must be assured that it would prove remunerative. If special rates on bulk grain consigned to the elevator could be secured, a reduction of 3 cents on the 100 pounds would be beneficial. When grain is stored in the elevator a receipt is given for it, and it is insured. It forms a basis of credit at the bank, then.
Mr. J. A. Stewart said that if an elevator was built here, the company could sell from 2,000 to 3,000 bushels of grain per day. There would then be a constant supply, and millers could obtain every day what they wanted. An elevator required an experienced Inspector to inspect the grain. The right way to go to work is to send a committee to examine into and report on the plans, specifications and costs of an elevator.

PIGEON SHOOTING AT OGLETHORPE PARK.—There were some three or four hundred persons assembled yesterday afternoon at Oglethorpe Park to witness the sport of shooting pigeons from the ground trap. Out of forty pigeons twenty-three were killed.
William Ferrell and Dr. W. G. Drake killed a pigeon every shot—five each. Fred Cunningham killed four; Perry Chisolm three; T. M. Clarke and Willis Venable two; L. H. Alexander and Dr. J. D. Collins, one each.
Dr. Collins made the feathers fly if he didn't kill many.
W. D. Glynn acted as keeper of the tally.

As announced yesterday morning, Bishop Gross, in response to the request of many leading citizens, will lecture to-night at the Hall of the House of Representatives.
The Hall will be lighted up and opened at 7:30 P.M. The Committee to receive Bishop Gross is C. C. Hammock, Mayor; General A. C. Garlington, Colonel A. Alston and Major John Stephens.
Bishop Gross has selected, as the subject of his lecture, "Charity." The lecture will not be doctrinal but based on broad Christian principles. The Hall will be crowded to-night.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

The Order Rapidly Increasing—What George W. Adams is Doing—A Grange is Organized in Atlanta.

Colonel George W. Adams, Deputy of the State Grange, organized a Grange, known as the Atlanta Grange, in this city yesterday, with twenty-six members.
There are now seventy Granges in the State.
To show that Colonel Adams is an indefatigable worker we will cite a few facts: On the 19th he organized Adams Grange in Spalding county, with ... members; on the 21st, Conyers Grange, with ...een members; on the 23d, Lagrange Grange, with ...nty-six members; on the 23d, Antioch Grange, in ...up county, with twenty members; on the 24th, ...gansville Grange, white twenty members. To-day he organizes a Grange at Warnersville, in Meriwether county.
Thursday he organizes one at Whitesburg, in Carroll county.
Friday he organizes one at Liberty Hill in Pike county.
Next Monday he organizes one at Powersville, Houston county.
Next Tuesday he organizes one in the city of Columbus.
Next Wednesday he organizes one at Eatonton.

GEORGIA WESTERN RAILROAD.

Resignation of Colonel L. P. Grant, President—Election of Colonel G. W. Adair as His Successor—Reduction in Salaries.

There was a full and harmonious meeting of the Board of Directors of the Georgia Western Railroad yesterday at the office of Colonel L. P. Grant.
Present, Directors Campbell Wallace, John H. ..., John Collier, Mayor Hammock, G. W. Adair, Clarke, Judge Hayden, W. R. Cox, A. S. Mitchell, Frank Rice, a full board.
... Orme was re-elected Secretary and Treasurer, John A. Grant, unanimously elected Chief Engineer.
Colonel L. P. Grant tendered the following letter of resignation which was accepted:

ATLANTA, GA., July 29, 1873.
To the Directors of the Georgia Western Railroad Company:
GENTLEMEN—Circumstances have rendered necessary my resignation as President of your Board. I therefore, that you will promptly accept the resignation which I now tender. If it shall be the pleasure of your Board to elect me a Director, if a vacancy should occur, I shall accept the position and cooperate with zeal in furthering the true interests of the important work entrusted to your management. To you, and through you to the stockholders, my hearty thanks for the manifestation of confidence your and their action has shown toward me. With strong confidence in the ultimate success of the grand enterprise,
I am truly and gratefully yours,
L. P. GRANT.

The Directors then proceeded to elect his successor, which resulted in the unanimous choice of Colonel George W. Adair.
L. P. Grant was then elected a Director to fill the vacancy of Col. Adair.
The salary of President was placed at $1,800—a reduction of $3,200. Of Secretary and Treasurer at ...—a reduction of $1,000. Chief Engineer $3,000—decrease of $600. Total reduction $3,600.

"SEVEN YEARS AFTER."

A Man Suspected of Committing Murder in DeKalb County in 1866, is Arrested in South Carolina Seven Years After, by two Atlanta Officers under a Requisition from Governor Smith

He is Brought to Atlanta and Lodged in Jail.

On the 5th day of June, in the year 1866, the citizens of the usually quiet county of DeKalb were startled by the discovery that a murder had been perpetrated in their midst. The victim was a Mr. James Richardson, a well known and esteemed citizen. Suspicion soon rested upon a man by the name of ... C. Smith as the party who had done the deed. The grand jury of DeKalb county, under the direction of Colonel William H. ..., at that time the Solicitor General of this circuit, immediately found a true bill for murder against Smith, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Smith, however, became cognizant of these proceedings and fled at once to parts unknown. The sheriff made an unavailing search and entered upon the warrant his return that the prisoner could not be found.
Thus the matter rested, until a short time since it was known to parties here not only that Wylie Smith was in South Carolina, but in what part of the State he was living. This fact was stated to Governor Smith and he at once issued a requisition upon Gov. Moses of South Carolina, for Smith's arrest, and authorized Messrs. J. F. Porter and Henry Holmes of this city to go after him. From Mr. Porter we obtain substantially the following details:

THE PURSUIT AND CAPTURE.

Armed with this requisition these gentlemen on last ...day left Atlanta and proceeded over to our sister State. The Governor of South Carolina did not, on this occasion, throw any impediments in the way of the officers, but issued his warrant for Smith's arrest and delivery to them. Having thus got all their papers right Messrs. Porter and Holmes proceeded on to a place about 20 miles above Laurens court-house in the northern part of the State, where they found their man. They came upon Smith in the road near the place upon which he was living, and he was immediately taken into custody. Smith was considerably surprised by his capture and especially in that place, but offered no resistance. The officers with their prisoner started homeward, and then their troubles began. Efforts were constantly made to get Smith out of their clutches by the people around, and required the exercise of great vigilance on their part. They were at one time both arrested by a man named Crew on a warrant charging that the capture of Smith, and his detention in custody by them were illegal. They managed, however, to evade their captors, and hurried forward before they could be again stopped. They brought the prisoner as rapidly as possible to Clinton, from thence to Newberry, from Newberry to Columbia, and from Columbia to Augusta, Georgia. Taking the morning train at Augusta, they reached this city yesterday afternoon, and lodged Smith in Fulton county jail for safe keeping last night. This morning he will be taken to Decatur and safely kept there for trial.
During the whole time that Smith was with his captors he was very reticent, so that very little could be learned from him in relation to the affair.
In a conversation with a reporter of THE CONSTITUTION he stated that he never authorized any statement that he feared mob violence in DeKalb county.

CONFIRMING CEREMONIES AT THE CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The Sacrament of Confirmation.

The Catholic Church was crowded to overflowing last night. Perhaps a hundred turned away, deeming it impossible to even get a glimpse of the inner part of the church. The occasion was the confirmation of converts by Bishop Gross.
At an early hour the services began with a beautiful piece by the choir. The Bishop then came forward and delivered a most excellent sermon, ... eloquence and pathos, full of edifying and plain instruction. As usual the Bishop's delivery was very fine. The audience seemed to listen closely to every word that fell from his lips.
When the Bishop had finished, the candidates for confirmation approached the altar, and amid the chanting of sweet melodies, and the imposing ceremonies characteristic of this faith, nine ladies and one gentleman were confirmed into the Roman Catholic Church.
Bishop Gross was assisted by Father McCarthy. He ...
The Bishop announced his intention to lecture this ...

ATLANTA AND WEST POINT RAILROAD.

Report of President John P. King.

ATLANTA AND WEST POINT RAILROAD, OFFICE, July 23, 1873.
To the Stockholders:
The Superintendent's report is a very plain, and so far as the operations of the road are concerned, a very satisfactory document.
By this report, and the appended statements, the condition of the company is fully exhibited, and leaves but a short report to be made by the directors. In the face of so many adverse circumstances, the showing is, no doubt, better than was expected by the stockholders. The road has, no doubt, honestly earned a net profit to cover the usual dividends of 8 per cent.
There are, however, some peculiarities in the history of the last years' operations, which require brief notice, and which may not otherwise be understood by the stockholders.
It will be seen that the bond account has been increased since the last annual statement, from $27,000 to $102,500, and bills receivable have been increased from $19,627 20 to $148,619 45.
This is accounted for by the unexpected occurrence of a large balance against a connecting road, which became available as cash, and was liquidated, and reported as an asset in this form. It was hoped and believed at the time that this form would be only temporary, as by an arrangement with a connecting road in intimate business relations with this road. It was expected that this item of our assets would be assumed and converted into cash, and made available for dividends. Hence, short bonds were issued to the stockholders in lieu of cash for dividends, and expected to be redeemed in the same way, thus the sudden increase of bonds and bills receivable since the last report are both accounted for, partly from the stringency in financial affairs, and partly from hostile influences, the contemplated conversion and redemption has not been consummated. It is still promised to some extent, but cannot be fully relied on.
This company is also suffering in another form from its insolvent connection being deeply interested in a continued and connected lines of communication between Atlanta and the gulf. This company, in liquidation of a previous joint guaranty for the Alabama and Florida Railroad, on the 1st day of January, 1868, indorsed the bonds of the Montgomery and West Point Railroad to the amount of something over $150,000. These bonds matured the 1st of January last, and were not met, and payment is urged against this Company. Ample provision was made for these bonds, it was supposed, at the time of indorsement, but the security was divested, without any fault of this Company or its officers, and a less available security substituted in its place. A part of this bond has been redeemed by cash and exchange for other bonds, but the remainder will have to be provided for as early as the resources of the Company will allow. We have as collateral $150,000 8 per cent. bonds, believed to be perfectly good, with which, and the aid of some mony, we hope to liquidate this debt.
This desirable object being accomplished, the directors agree with the Superintendant, who says:
"With a conjunction of circumstances, the most unfavorable that can ever again occur, we have fairly earned an 8 per cent. dividend. In my opinion, we have reached the minimum of business, and may reasonably hope to see the commencement of a steady growth after September next."
The Directors fully sympathize with the other stockholders in the interruption of regular cash dividends. This is the first interruption (except by the ravages of war) since the organization of the Company. Amid the wreck of embarrassment and bankruptcy that surround us, we cannot expect to escape our share of misfortune. The unparalleled prosperity of the Company in years gone by, has, no doubt, received a heavy blow, but to have our investment temporarily impaired in value is less serious than a total loss with no hope of recovery, which has been the fate of so many Southern roads. An insignificant portion of roads at the South have paid any dividends at all since the war, and the few that have been struggling to do so, seem more likely to diminish than to increase their dividends. The Superintendent notices the probable effect upon our profits of the various roads in progress, and thinks that on the completion of the Air-Line, it willfully indemnify us for all losses by rival lines, and on the completion of the link between Monroe and Shreveport, our road will be placed on its "anti-bellum footing." Whatever in'ury the Air-Line may inflict on other roads with which we are intimately associated, there can be no doubt that it will bring a very profitable accession of business to ours.
The fidelity of the officers in charge is best attested by the regularity and freedom from accident with which the trains have been run. This is a very notable feature in the management of the Company since it has been in operation. With a single exception, we have run near seven years without any serious accident or the loss of a trip.
Iron for renewal is much needed, and in the present condition of the Company its policy should be the strictest economy, and every expense should be cut off which safety will allow. It is much to be regretted that the means of the Company do not permit a more rapid renewal of the iron—near one-half of the iron originally laid upon the track more than twenty years ago being still in use. But for the extraordinary quality of the iron it would be dangerous, but the iron then manufactured, of good pattern and well inspected, was a different article to the inferior article now made. It is kept perfectly safe, but is rapidly approaching the close of its long service.
Respectfully submitted in behalf of the Board by
JNO. P. KING.

"THE GOOD TIME A'CUMMING."

Grand Picnic on the 23d—Eloquent Addresses—Royal Banquet.

CUMMING, July 28, 1873.
Editors Constitution: The Good Templars and Sunday School picnic came off on the 23d. The morning opened inauspiciously, being dark and drizzly. At nine o'clock the ringing of the church bell summoned the Good Templars and Sunday School scholars to meet together. They met and forming a procession marched round the square to the grove in front of old Mrs. Humphrey's residence, where they found a large crowd, a stand erected for the speakers and two tables set. The school sang, then reading of the scriptures by Rev. R. A. Eakes, singing prayer by Rev. Mr. Eakes, singing speech by Rev. Mr. Tatum, singing; speech by Rev. W. A. Dodge, singing, speech by Col. H. P. Pell. The school sang beautifully, and the speakers all did well, each one surpassed himself. After the speaking they all marched to the tables, which were groaning under their weight of good things. The crowd did ample justice to the dinner. There was a great many out and all seemed to employ themselves hugely. I did not know that Cumming could boast of so many pretty girls, and handsome young men. I especially noticed the accomplished Miss Carrie Kellogg, daughter of Col. H. C. Kellogg, and the belle of Cumming by her bright smiles and glances from the beautiful black eyes, she won many admirers. Also, Miss Julia Bell, daughter of Colonel Bell, Miss Fannie Sill. Miss Jane Kellogg, younger daughter of Colonel Kellogg, and Miss Jennies James. Would that I could name more of the pretty young ladies and some of the handsome young men, but time will not permit.
Long will the 23d be remembered by the people of Cumming. On the night of the 23d, the young folks had a party at Mr. James, and enjoyed themselves finely, as I heard. A LOOKER ON.

PERSONAL.—Our energetic Solicitor General, J. T. Glenn, has returned to the city.
M. C. Kiser has returned from Athens, with health fully recuperated.
W. J. Garrett has returned from Catoosa Springs.
The following were among the arrivals at the Kimball House last night: W. F. Post, Grantville; G. S. Owens, A. A. A. Winn, Colonel C. E Groover, Mrs. Groover, W. Haas, Savannah; J. M. Lawton, Mrs. Lawton, Havana; Miss Alice Mims, Screven county; Albert H. Scott, U. S. Coast Survey; Abda Johnson, Cartersville; G. A. McClesky, Georgia; E. Fitzgerald, H. M. Smith, Macon; J. B. Carson, Lumpkin; W. H. McComb, Milledgeville; C. H Potter, J. M. Handley, New York; T. P. Safford, Madison.
At the National, last night, there were registered, among others—J. F. Bonnell, J. M. Myers, Macon; M. E. Myers, St. Mary's; W. R. Rankin, Calhoun; J. H. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Hollingsworth, Miss Hollingsworth, S. C.; J. H. Reeves, Athens; M. Doggett, Oxford; Miss S. Eberhart, P. W. Arnold, Mrs. Arnold, S'm Zellars, T. W. Hood, Palmetto; J. W. Billups, Madison; W. J. Doyle, West Point.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONCERT.—The Sabbath school children attached to this church gave a concert last night for the benefit of the Sunday school library.
The members of the church and congregation were present, together with a large number of outsiders, who took advantage of this occasion to hear some very fine music. The singing was carried on by the children under the guidance and with the assistance of the choir. The choir also gave some more difficult selections alone.
The whole performance did not occupy more than an hour and a half, and amply satisfied all who heard it, not only of the careful training the children had received, but also of marked musical abilities of many of the ladies and gentlemen connected with the ...

The Dead Convict.

The Trial of W. F. Ivy for the Murder of George Henson, Negro Convict—Testimony in the Case—The Court Room Crowded—Case not Concluded.

The interest manifested in the killing of George Henson, a negro convict with Grant, Alexander & Co. was at a high point long before the hour set down for the hearing yesterday morning The court room was crowded with persons filled with curiosity to learn the particulars, and owing to the numbers who had flocked in there, it became necessary to close the doors and thin out the crowd, allowing only those to remain who were either witnesses or personally felt an interest in the case by reason of being friends to the parties. Some delay was occasioned by talking over the propriety of adjourning to the City Hall. It was finally determined to go there.

THE PRISONER

was brought into court, having an indifferent, careless appearance, indicating but little fear of any damaging effects likely to arise from the investigation, and seemed to have suffered no particular inconvenience from his night's confinement. He had been placed by the court in charge of Lieutenant Johnson, of the city police force, and had spent the night at the Station House. He had dressed himself up in a suit of gray cassimere, presenting a very neat and tidy appearance, quite different from that when arrested. About eleven o'clock Squire Sasscen taking his seat on the Judge's bench, called attention to the fact that he had no one present to associate with him in the trial of the cause, and he had determined to adjourn the court till two o'clock, in order to obtain some one to assist him. After some further delay he changed his mind and the

TRIAL BEGAN.

Colonel S. B. Spencer made the opening statement and immediately proceeded to investigate the case. The first witness introduced was Nathan L. Jones, a convict, who testified in substance as follows: Was on Saturday at the Fair Grounds carrying water to the squad of convicts; am a prisoner; I know Mr. W. F. Ivey; his duty was to superintend the line as captain; a laborer, whose name I have been told was Geo Henson, died on Saturday about ¼ mile from the squad on his way to the stockade; he died in the cart; he was placed in the cart on the order of Mr. John Alexander to be carried to the stockade; I saw the deceased before he was placed in the cart; he was lying down; Mr. Ivey was there; I saw him whip him with a strap; he gave him some five or seven licks over his clothes; Ivey had ordered him to pull down his breeches, which he refused to do; Ivey afterwards pulled down his pants and gave him some five or eight licks; I turned and walked down on a run where the drivers were, some three or four hundred yards; I don't know whether he struck him any more or not; I did not see him; I was gone some 20 or 30 minutes before I came back; I then went after more water, and came back before I was ordered to take him into the cart; he could not get in the cart himself; some two others helped me put him in; I did not strike him after he was in the cart; nor did any any one else strike him; when he was put in the cart his pulse was very weak; when he was being whipped he had chains on; he was on his knees; he soon got up; the licks were hit on the shoulders; Mr. Ivey was on the left side of him; the deceased was facing Atlanta; Ivey had his back towards the State road; the deceased came to the place where he was whipped and kind of stumbled and fell down; he had not been struck before he laid down.
Cross-examination.—This place was some twenty or forty feet beyond a bridge over the State Road near the Fair Ground. There were some fourteen penitentiary convicts in the squads, two guards, Mr. John Alexander and Carey, these were drivers. The shackles were the same that are used upon other prisoners, and were put on him when he first came to camp. I did not see Ivey when he first came there, he had nothing but the instrument that he whipped with. This was a strap of sole leather, one and a half inch wide, about twelve or eighteen inches, fastened on a staff twelve inches long; the staff is lighter than the lash. It was a part of Ivey's duty to use this instrument. The first licks he gave him over his clothes, from five to seven licks over his shoulders and back, the dead man pulled down his pants and then struck 5 or 8 licks on his rump; I was standing about fifteen steps; I then went out to a place where I could not see the defendant; Alexander and Casey staid there; I am confident that seven or eight licks were as many as he gave; they were moderate licks; not as hard as he could strike; there was no resistance, except his refusal to pull his pants down; it was almost an hour or hour and a half before he was carried off in the cart; some straw and convict's coats were put in the cart; the reason why Ivey whipped him was because Alexander had reported to him that he would not work; he was working in a slow way; he told him to go to work, and he complained that he was sick, and did not work any better; there was no lick across the head that I saw; it was an hour or hour and a half before it was discovered that it was anything serious; I discovered it, and found his pulse very weak; Alexander then examined him and ordered him to be taken to the camp; I don't know whether Ivey examined him or not; I did not see him when he left; the instrument in the manner it was used was not likely to produce death; I don't know that he had taken anything; he drank an unusual quantity of water, about 2½ pints; he drank large quantities every half hour before; he was moved from where Ivey left him to be put under the bridge in the shade; he was carried about three-quarters of a mile before he died; when he died a white froth came with his last breath which was followed by green froth; I saw no blood on him and no bruises; I could have seen them; Mr. Wood, Eli and Mr. Waters were at the camp when we got there; Eli and Waters made the box; I did not see him after I left him at the camp; I have been under the charge of Captain Ivey some two months; Henson had been there eight or nine days; was a new convict; Ivey treated the prisoners kind and humanely; as well as prisoners could expect; previous to this difficulty there had been no other trouble with him that I know of.
Re-direct—When Ivy told him to go to work deceased told him he was sick and was not able to work for this he whipped him; he immediately sent for his strap and went down to him and pulled down his pants; I did not hear the deceased say a word after he had pulled down his pants; he groaned. Ivy did not say anything, but laid the whip on him. I don't know what he died from. After I left I don't know whether Ivy struck him or not.
Re-crossed—Those licks were not sufficient to produce death.
The Court adjourned till two o'clock.

AFTERNOON.

At twenty minutes past 2 o'clock the prosecution resumed.
James Coleman testified as follows:
Lives in Oglethorpe Park; was driving a cart for Grant, Alexander & Co.; Knows Ivey and Henson; Henson was working the squad nearest the Fair Grounds; Ivey was there part of the time and part of the time was away; I saw Ivey whip Henson; when I first saw him he was whipping; he whipped some ten minutes to the best of my belief; after he stopped the negro went into the cut as if going to work; I next saw him whip him a second time; this time he whipped ten or fifteen minutes; I was seventy five yards off and could see him all the time.
I saw Jones that day; he came up to where I was; it was while Ivy was whipping the negro. I asked him what was the matter; he said nothing; the negro wouldn't work. Ivy whipped the negro five minutes after Jones passed; Jones, after coming back, went into the Fair Grounds after water; Ivy came by me on his horse; Henson was taken up and placed under the bridge; sometime afterwards he was taken up and placed in cart with Jones driving him towards the stockade; he passed by me; his eyes were walled up and he was moaning; I could not see Henson while he was being whipped, but could see Ivy; Henson was in a hole; I went to the hole afterwards; it looked as if some one had been wallowing in it; I did not see when he commenced; he struck him with a strap, very heavy blows; I could distinctly hear the blows, and occasionally would hear the negro moan.
Cross-examination—I worked there on Saturday; in the morning I was at George Kreis' when my father came after me to go to Alexander; I was about seventy-five or one hundred yards from the squad; a boy in the chain gang would bring me a cart which I would take and carry it about one hundred yards, when it was taken by another boy; I carried a loaded cart and brought back an empty one; part of the time my face was towards the squad and at other my back towards them; I don't know where Jones was when the first whipping took place; when he passed me the first whipping was going; after the first whipping I saw Henson get up and put up his clothes and go into the cut as if going to work; Ivey stood on the railroad with Casey until he whipped the second time; about fifteen minutes after the first whipping he whipped him again; I saw the strap, it was hanging on the horn of his saddle.
The carts came down on one side and went up the other; the first person I told was Tommie North and a hired driver; he was the third boy from the cut; afterwards I told my mother, and told George Kries at dinner time; I don't know of having told any one else; this was not the first time I talked about Henson with Kries; we quit off a little before sundown, helped put up the gear; I did not go to the stockade; the carts are left at the Fair Grounds under a shed.
Dr. E. J. Roach sworn—
Am a practicing physician; held a post-mortem on Monday, between 8 and 9 o'clock, in the rear of a house that fronts on Wheat street; the body was ... of the body; tongue protruding; eyes hanging out on the cheeks; this was the appearance of the body upon examination; when the body was taken out of the box; I noticed that the skin of back in part stuck to the box; the skin was broken on his neck and shoulders, all the way down his back and hips; there were blisters unbroken on the side; these were similar to those on the back; decomposition had evidently commenced; I found more bruises about the face and head than any where; these were contused wounds; on the side of the skull was a fracture; the fracture was not apparent until the scalp was removed; the wounds on the head and body were sufficient to produce death; it was possible that it might not have done it; I have no other hypothesis.
Cross-examination—It was about 9 o'clock; don't know in whose house; I don't know how long it had been there or in whose custody it was; it was in the hands of colored people; from the condition of the body I presumed it had been dead two or three days; the decomposition had progressed considerably; from the contusion there was blood internally; when a wound is inflicted before death blood is in a vitalized state; it is possible that the skull may have been fractured after death, but not probable; it was impossible to have been done with a strap, nor with a staff; I saw the box opened; it was about a foot deep, six feet long—a rough square box; the wounds could not have been made by moving it in the box; the blows on the body without the blows on the head is possible to have produced death, owing to the condition of his nervous system.
Re-direct—I give it as my opinion that the wounds were sufficient to cause death; there are a thousand or more causes of death.
Wm. Kile, Coroner, sworn—I am Coroner of Fulton county, and held an inquest over the body of George Henson at his house on Wheat street; on Sunday there was a large crowd; I found a box there with a bucket sitting under in which blood was dripping; I told them to let it remain as I left it; on yesterdas morning held the inquest; I examined the box carefully; the box was nailed up closely with ten penny nails; If it had been opened I could see no appearance of it.
Cross-examined—I suppose there was a half gallon of blood dripped from the box at 5 o'clock, on Sunday; I examined the box closely then; it was in the same condition next morning, and had not been tampered with; the clotted blood fell from his back when he was turned over.
Re-Direct: The fracture of the skull was like it had been done with the butt of a gun.
John Main—
I knew George Henson; he is dead; I saw him yesterday morning at my house; it was on his body that the inquest was held; it was carried there from the stockade; Cesar Cowart and myself brought it there; I first discovered blood when we dragged the box out of the grave; it ran out of the head of the box; it was in my charge the entire time until Mr. Kile came Monday morning; two guards went with us to the grave to point it to us. We got the box and brought it to my house. It was first opened on Monday morning.
The prosecution here rested their case.
The defense introduced Alexander H. Evans—a convict for manslaughter—Was working on Georgia Western Railroad on Saturday. George Henson was shoveling; told Mr. Alexander that his hip hurt; he told him to go to picking. This witness testified similarly to the other convict Jones, there being no particular difference to make it necessary to report it here.
He drank a great deal of water—to such an extent that I told him that he would kill himself; he told me he had taken six pills the night before; no one struck him but Ivey—that was not allowed; Ivey was whipping him about a minute; there was some ten minutes between the two whippings; he got about fifteen licks in all.
Cross examined—There were some eight or nine hands working in the squad; four men working with picks, side by side, fronting the State Road, facing George; Ivey was on the right side of George; Ivey whipped him the second time because his action proved that he was going to run; that strap will raise a blister; I was put in the Penitentiary for five years.
Ed Chamberlin, a negro convict, been in eighteen months; involuntary manslaughter; was in the court on Saturday: I saw George Hendison dead, brought in by Jones & McCasey; I made the box, washed his face, closed his mouth and bound his face; shut one eye; saw no wounds on him; he remained until 5 o'clock this evening; I buried him; I heard him make complaint the night before; said that he had rheumatism; I didn't see him take anything; I stay in came all the time.
Cross Examination—He was not struck after he was brought into camp; I only saw the front of his person; did not see his back; did not look particularly for wounds.
John T. Alexander:
Testified in corroboration of the evidence already given by the convicts Moore and Evans.
The case was then adjourned till 9 o'clock this morning.

THE COURTS.

Proceedings Before the United States Commissioner Yesterday—Three Dawson County Men Required to Give Bond—Interesting Attachment Case before Justice Hammond, &c., &c.

The Commissioner's Court.

Three prisoners from Dawson county were brought before Commissioner Smith yesterday for violations of the revenue laws.
Joseph Hulsey, charged with retailing whisky without paying the special tax to Uncle Sam, and Richard E. Paine and John S. Slater, both charged with illicit distilling. The prisoners waived all formal investigation before the Commissioner, and, after a slight examination into the facts of their cases, were required to give bonds each in the sum of $300 for their appearance before the next term of the United States District Court. They gave the bonds and were discharged.
Mr. A. P. Bowen, of Pickens county, whose committal to jail about a week ago for illicit distilling was duly noticed in this paper, succeeded yesterday in finding the required security for his bond, and was also discharged from custody.

The Justices' Courts.

On Monday morning, Vaughn, the party who cut a man named Crane, on Marietta street, Saturday night, was brought before Justice E W. Mundy on a charge of assault and battery. The particulars of this difficulty were given fully in yesterday morning's CONSTITUTION. After a short consultation with his counsel, Messrs. Hulsey and Smith, the prisoner waived a hearing before the magistrate, and gave an appearance bond of $500.
Yesterday afternoon Mr. A. T. Finney sued out an attachment before Justice Hammond, against Mr. Jack Smith for the unpaid purchase money of a buggy. This process was taken out under a recent act of the General Assembly, which authorizes the attachment of a specific article where all or any portion of the purchase money is unpaid. The case will be heard on the 20th of August, and in the meantime bond has been taken for the property. The other local courts furnish no items of interest for yesterday. Justice E. R. Sasseen spent the whole day hearing the case of murder charged against Mr. W. F. Ivey. A full account of the investigation is given in another column.

Station House Report.

The toils of the police for the whole of yesterday were rewarded by but one arrest, and that too of a spiritualist, who was too much under the influence. How the Recorder will manage to pass the morning we are unable to say.

STATE POMOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

It Meets With Hearty Approval.

Extracts from Letters Commending the Enterprise.

From P. J. Berckmans, owner of Fruitland Nurseries, Augusta.
DEAR SIRS—You will see by the last two numbers of the Farmer and Gardner, that I have taken the matter of the proposed State Pomological Society in hand, hoping to awaken our people to the importance of the enterprise. I have declined to be present at the Norfolk, Virginia, meeting, in order to be present at Atlanta, and I hope, by continued efforts, a respectable attendance may be secured. Let us concentrate our energies for a State organization.

DUBLIN, GA., July 15, 1873.
MY DEAR SIR—The perfect organization of a live and active State Pomological Society for our neglected State is one of the chief demands of the times. Shall it be longer neglected? Push the ball along, and lets have a full attendance at Atlanta on the 20th of August. I give my heart, my talents and my purse to this cause.
Truly yours,
JOHN M. STUBBS.

THE ADDRESS OF MR. CAPERS AT CONYERS.—As the course of Mr. Capers, in his fourth of July oration, would require that he should be as a logician criticised, we have the following points, made on his recent address at Conyers on the 25th, presented to us by a careful reporter, who wishes to present only facts to our readers and not mere impressions:
After saying that the South had been cursed by the fire works of rhetoric, and the whole country crazed with its extravagant licences, he elaborated the following propositions:
1st. That no system of reasoning is either safe or sound which is not strictly inductive, i. e. based upon a fact established, not in fancy, not in prejudices, not in passions, but a fact established in demonstration, or in experience.
2d. That the deductive plan of reasoning was and is a false system, because it forced wrong conclusions—conclusions drawn from mere assertions, mere statements, mere notions which were readily formed in the fancy of a diseased brain, in the prejudices of preconceived opinions, or in the passion of a mere impulse.
The first was the only method of a true philosopher in an honest search after truth.
The second was the plan of a sophist, adopted for no other purpose than to play upon the emotional nature, through the weak minds of men who were simple enough to admit the premise.
Society was disorganizing fast under a mere deduction drawn from a premise, which conventionalism had laid down as a formula in the worship of materialism.
Politics was no longer an inductive statesmanship, but had become theories deduced from the premise of a party's necesity and the expediency of a stock jobber in party profits.
Religion had gone from an honest induction of man's dependence on a God Omnipotent, made from an innate consciousness of this dependence, into the foolish deductions of atheists and the wild vagaries of spiritualists. From the child-like faith of our fathers the pulpit was apotheasing a false religion. Apotheists were deducing conclusions while wise men applauded.
In material matters, (the bread and meat question,) the inductive system has been utterly ignored and from a mere premise fixed in a fancy, in a bad habit or in impracticable theories, we have deduced for the farmer "crop liens," "guano" debt and bankruptcy; while the speculator on profits, with the fact of their foolishness for his premise, has by the inductive method put their farms in his pocket. This is the substance of the address which was listened to by an audience estimated at over one thousand people with marked attention.
Colonel Capers will address the people of Lithonia on the 5th of August, and at Madison on the 12th. We will give a digest of his speeches, as they should be thought over.

THE TESTIMONY OF TRAVELERS.—All travelers who have tested the value of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an acclimating preparation and as a means of avoiding the painful and dangerous disorders of the bowels and the liver, which accrue from a change of water or unwholesome vapors, refer to it with enthusiasm as an unequaled preventive medicine. Wherever the atmospheric conditions are unfavorable to health and the water impure, this powerful tonic is indispensable alike to the settler and transient sojourner. There was a time when raw brandy or whisky was almost universally used to qualify the waters of the western rivers, and the wells, etc., of the low-lying districts of the South. Now, the liquors of commerce have been generally discarded by travelers and residents in these regions, and Hostetter's Bitters substituted in their stead. At this season when the sun is near the zenith and the heat oppressive, two or three doses of the Bitters daily will have a salutary effect on the appetite, the digestion and the spirits.

SOUTHERN REMEDY!
NO HUMBUG.
I HAVE been asked by a number of our citizens why I do not make known through our periodicals my Preparation for the cure of Dysentery, Diarrhœ, Cholera Morbus and Dentition or (Cutting Teeth) of Children. Its operation and action appear to be a specific if not infallible. Nothing has ever been offered to the public as a cure for the above diseases that is its equal, which by their drain upon the bowels has so often proved fatal, and by having a bottle of the SOUTHERN REMEDY in your house and take or give it on first symptoms, you need not have fears of the much dreaded epidemic, Cholera. To be convince of its virtue it is only necessary to procure one bottle and use as directed on the bottle. It can be had at the Drug Store of Heard, Craig & Co., and others, and my office, Peachtree street, Powell Building. S. T. BIGGERS, M. D.

ATLANTA, GA., June 18, 1873.
Mr. W. J. Land, City;
DEAR SIR—Messrs. Gaff & CO., of Cincinnati, Ohio, desire us to accept the Agency for the sale of their Crescent Brewery Vienna Beer. We have tried the Beer and find it a pleasant and palatable beverage; but before accepting the sale of it, we want your professional opinion as to its purity. We, therefore, desire you to call at our store and draw a sample from a small lot which we have here. After you have made an analysis, let us know the result.
Respectfully,
GUTHMAN & HAAS.

ATLANTA, GA., July 1, 1873.
Messrs. Guthman & Haas, Atlanta, Ga.:
GENTLEMEN—This will certify that I have made a thorough chemical examination of the "Crescent Brewery" Lager Beer received of you a few days ago. I find the article free from injurious substances, drugs, etc.; the bitter principle being due to pure hop resin. The analysis herewith affixed exhibits the quantities of the main proximate constituents, and compares favorably with the analyses of the best foreign beers and ales.
I am very truly yours,

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION

From the Eastern Argus.]

CHARGE OF THE SALARY AID.

BY E. R. C. (AFTER TENNYSON.)

Half a vote, half a vote,
Half a vote onward.
All in the treasury of Sam
Grabbed the three hundred
"Forward, the Salary Aid!
Charge for the gold," he said;
Into the treasury of Sam
Grabbed the three hundred.

"Forward, the Salary Aid!"
Was there a man dismayed?
Not though Congress knew
Some one had plundered!
Their's not to make reply;
Their's not to reason why;
Their's but to do and lie;
Into the treasury of Sam
Grabbed the three hundred.

Butlers to the right of them,
Butlers to the left of them,
Butlers in the midst of them,
Voted—and plundered;
Finished they their plot so fell,
Boldly they grabbed, and well;
Into the jaws of Death,
Into the mouth of Hell
Grabbed the three hundred.

Flashed all their purses bare,
Flashed as they turned in air,
Robbing the bankers there,
Charging a treasury, while
All the world wondered!
Then they came back; but not—
Not the three hundred.

People to the right of them,
People to the left of them,
People around them,
Were robbed and plundered;
They that had grabbed so well,
Came through the jaws of Death,
Back from the mouth of Hell,
All that was left of them—
Left of three hundred.

When can their glory fade?
Oh, the mad charge they made!
All the world wondered.
Horror the grab they made!
Horror the Salary Aid—
Noble six hundred!!!

The Texas Cattle Drove.

A correspondent of the Rochester Union, writing from Great Bend, Kansas, says that every day for miles around the herder may be seen with his large droves of cattle working their way to Wichita, Great Bend and Ellsworth. These herders leave Texas early in the spring, and drive all the way to reach the Kansas Pacific Railroad, or the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe route to the East. Stock yards are built at different points capable of shipping 300,000 head in one season, while the large extent of rich prairie that is everywhere to be seen affords the finest of pasturage during the summer months. These gentlemen of the whip and spur are original in all their movements and characteristics, offering to the student of poor human nature a fertile theme over which to ponder. His spurs are peculiar, the buckskin pants are strange, and the wide brim of his sombrero shades eyes that look out upon you with a certain free and easy manner, the outgrowth of continual change and restless activity. To him the saddle is home, and the camp fire his beacon out on the vast plains of the West and Southwest. He loves his stimulants by day and night, and at sundry times he imitates the bellowing of his favorite herd. Pistols are his guardian angels, and their long faces may be seen every day peeping from below his belt. Already thousands of cattle with their herders have reached this valley, and each train brings into our city stock-merchants, the men of beef, who help to fill the stomachs of Eastern gourmands.

Think for a moment of long trains of cattle crowding into cars daily, and then one can form some idea of where all the beeves that pass over the New York Central Railroad come from. No country on this continent has finer facilities for feeding and grazing than Kansas. Especially is this true of the great Arkansas Valley, once called by some the Great American Desert. The streams roll their currents through it from west to east, and as far south as the borders of the Indian Territory only twenty miles intervene between the different watering places at the farthest point. The blue grass is fast choking out the mesquite, and even nature is changing from savagery to cultivation and improvement. Every year rains are more and more frequent, and this season Dame Nature has given us the contents of her celestial wash-tub.

☞ A person with long, fair whiskers, and dressed in the height of fashion, entered a hosier's store in Vienna, and requested the shop-woman, who happened to be alone, to show him some colored shirts. Every variety was brought out, when he made his choice and requested that a parcel might be made up for him.

This being done, "What an idiot I am," he said. "I have not seen how the shirts look when on. Would you oblige me, mademoiselle, by putting one on over your dress?" The shop-woman having complied with his request, "Be so kind," he continued, "as to button the collar and wristbands, that I may get a thoroughly good idea of the effect. And now," he added, taking up his parcel, "allow me to wish you a very good morning!" and in an instant he was outside the door and had disappeared, the unhappy girl, perfectly stupefied, not daring to follow him into the street on account of her singular costume. Her employer, on returning from his cafe half an hour later, found her with the fatal garment still on, crying on the counter.

THE CONCENTRATED VEGETABLE SPECIFIC is a true Purifier of the Blood. It thoroughly neutralizes and eliminates from the system the specific virus which causes such a long list of human suffering.

In every form of scrofulous, mercurial and constitutional blood complaints it stands without compeer, rapidly curing ulcers, pustules, carbunkles, scald head, salt rheum, and the 88 different varieties of skin affections. It is a positive curative for scrofula, and the deadly enemy of mercury, lead and arsenic, quickly elimination them from the system. The Fluid Extract of Queens delight, prepared by Dr. J. S. Pemberton, has made the most wonderful and astonishing cures. Its purifying, vivifying and tonic properties exercise the quickest and most powerful effects in restoring health. It is harmless to the most delicate, and can never be used amiss. It is the true beautifier of the complexion. If you want pure rich blood, clear skin and beautiful complexion, use the Compound Extract of Stillingia or Queens Delight. Read our treatise on diseases of the blood. The genuine has the signature of the proprietor upon each label.

WHY WILL YE DIE?—Death, or what is worse, is the inevitable result of continued suspension of the menstrual flow. It is a condition which should not be trifled with. Immediate relief is the only safeguard against constitutional ruin. In all cases of suppression, suspension or other irregularity of the "courses," Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous centres, improving the blood and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a legitimate prescription, and the most intelligent Doctors use it. Prepared by J. H. Bradfield, druggist, Atlanta, Ga; $1 50 per bottle, and sold by respectable druggists everywhere.

DR. TUTTS VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

The startling drawback on nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for the agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY AND STRENGTHEN
At one and the same time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which full realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved The important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill.

Which purify the blood and remove all corrupt humors and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produce no weakness or lassitude whatever, but on the contrary tones the stomach, and invigorates the body during the progress of their operation. They unite the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a STRENGTHENING PUGATIVE and PURIFYING TONIC.

Dr. Tutt's Pills are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation; they produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists. Principal office. 18 and 21 Platt St. New York.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

Is the Most Powerful Cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, etc., etc.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowziness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS'
EXTRACT OF JURRUBEBA

Is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties: it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

BRILLIANT SUCCESS!

THE NASHVILLE

REPUBLICAN BANNER,

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED

NEWSPAPER IN TENNESSEE.

IF YOU WISH TO SUBSCRIBE TO A FIRST-class daily, tri weekly or weekly family newspaper, take the NASHVILLE REPUBLICAN BANNER, issued from the Capital and commercial center of Tennessee—the oldest established paper in Tennessee, enjoying the largest circulation, and conceded to be the best newspaper, in all respects, published South of the Ohio. It has acquired distinction with the public and among its contemporaries, for its enterprise in securing the freshest news and the concise and convenient manner of presenting it; for its accuracy as a market reporter; for the progressive spirit and conservative tone of its political teachings; for being a live, independent and sincere political journal, thoroughly identified with the political and material interest of its State and section. It gives 10,000 words of telegraph, from all parts of the world daily—the best market report, the freshest local news—and its originality is its distinctive specialty.

The BANNER will strive to keep pace with the progress of the times and to be an accurate and life-like exponent of all occurring around us. It will note all affairs of National, State or local interest, and all the interesting events occurring in the country at large and abroad It will contain full reports of the next Tennessee General Assembly and proceedings of the next Congress, which everybody will wish to see. As a vehicle for the transmission of news and intelligence on every subject, it will commend itself to readers of all shades of political faith. Its editorial corps is large and composed of writers who have made journalism a profession, their particular department a specialty, and who bring to their labors the earnestness which results from its being their life-long calling. Neither labor nor expense will be spared to obtain the latest intelligence, whether local, domestic or foreign, and a liberal use of the telegraph will make each issue a compact and comprehensive history of the "world's doings." As a newspaper it will be surpassed by none in life and enterprise. In tone and sympathies and aims, it will be as conservative as from the beginning of its career. We shall go on as we have begun, and we hope the public, as far as the mails that communicate with us are concerned, will go on as it has begun. The Banner for the coming twelve months will be an improvement on the last. We design it for the best newspaper within reach of its circle of patrons and leave the issue to their kind opinion.

THE TRI-WEEKLY BANNER

will contain the cream of the news of the Daily with its telegraphic dispatches and market reports.

THE WEEKLY BANNER,

a complete compendium of the news of the Daily and Tri-Weekly issues, will be a first class family Literary journal—an instructive and entertaining weekly visitor to the Family Circle.

The several editions of the Republican Banner are issued from the office at the following terms of subscription:

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills.

I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Billious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years, and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, labring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period, not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.

Price, 50 cents a Box.

None genuine unless it bears the signature of N. C. Williams and picture of Dr. Calhoun.
